Influencing the Court

Carmel's recent case in police court which attracted nation-wide attention has brought out a phase which is probably unknown to the general public. Any one who attempts to influence a judge in his decision, verbally, in writing, or in any other manner shall be deemed in contempt of Court. In only a few specific cases do the statutes provide for recommendations by a jury.

On Repealing the Sales Tax

A lot of publicity has come to our desk recently concerning repeal of sales tax. In its place, the Ralston Tax Relief amendment, to be voted on in 1936, calls for the gradual exemption of tangible personal property and improvements from taxation, thus leaving land alone taxable. One Carmel man used as his argument that John Smith who buys a vacant lot between James White and Joe Black and holds it for speculation purposes should pay the same tax per lot that White and Black pay, instead of receiving the benefits of the advance in property value from the improvements made by White and Black, who are penalized for making improvements by having their taxes raised. If the Ralston bill should be passed there will be a lot of land made available to the buying public by those who are now sitting tight and waiting for higher prices. And it would be a great relief not to be bored with the three percent bugbear. Personally, we could never reconcile the custom of taxing a man for beautifying the country, with true Americanism.

Give the Railroads a Chance

Among our country's great industries are our railroads. Let's hope we won't have to say "were" in speaking of them. The rails are now in a bad way, due to restrictions from outmoded laws in competition with trucking which has made such rapid strides in the past few years, and in competition with transportation by water. The next congress should repeal the long and short haul clause which prohibits a railroad from charging a lower rate for long distance hauling.

What About that Road?

Along about three years ago, we heard a lot about a county road which was about to be closed, known as the Carmel-Toro cutoff. We are now informed that in 1934 this road was ordered closed by the county supervisors, and that, users now must unlock and open a number of gates to get through this three miles of road.

We are now informed that the residents of that section feel that a county road established 70 years ago is still necessary and should be put into condition by the county and be unobstructed. We are told that this is the school road and the mail route. If the above are facts, the order to close the road should be rescinded. We will be glad to give space to communications, signed and not too lengthy, on this question.

Don't Limit Their Powers

We pass along to our readers the following statistics which came to our desk this week. We found them interesting and perhaps you will:

Do the American people want the much-talked-about Constitutional amendment which would limit the Supreme Court's power to declare acts unconstitutional? The answer, according to the wide-spread poll of American Institute of Public Opinion, which syndicates

Carmel's Red Cross Quota Filled In Half Allotted Time

"We are over the top" exclaimed the workers at Red Cross campaign headquarters Wednesday night. As the announcement was made that the quota of three thousand dollars had been exceeded, it was determined that the solicitation should continue until Saturday in order to give as many people as possible an opportunity to join Red Cross and at the same time aid the broad relief program of our local Chapter.

The results of the campaign to date by districts follows:

Memberships 450; Dist. No. 1 $383.50; No. 2, $344.00; No. 3, $134.50; No. 4, $97.75; No. 5, $219.50; No. 6, $36.50; No. 7, $75.00; No. 8, $40.00; No. 9, $32.00; No. 10, $66.00; No. 11, $171.00; Pebble Beach, $595.00; Carmel Highlands, $281.00; Carmel Valley $153.50; Business District $409.00; Grand Total—$3008.25.

"It is most gratifying to us as we realize how deeply concerned the people of Carmel have become in the local efforts of Carmel Red Cross Chapter," stated Mrs. Herbert John Morse, Chairman of the Campaign Organization. Mrs. Morse congratulated the workers upon their efforts in the field and stated that in almost every instance they had been most courteously received by our citizens.

Campaign headquarters will remain open in Carmel Garage until Saturday and afterwards contributions will be received at the regular Chapter headquarters in the Old Post Office Building on Dolores Street.

SMALL RACE RIOT LEADS TO STABBING

According to reports, a story reflecting discredit on the negro race caused a stabbing affair early Monday morning when caddies gathered at Pebble Beach golf course for work.

Forest Sweetland, 23, and George Westcott, 21, both of Carmel, were badly slashed by Homer Spann, 46, negro, from Seaside.

The injured young men were brought into Carmel to Dr. Lum's office for treatment.

Spann made his immediate getaway and Officer Frank Oyer went to his home where he arrested him shortly before noon. He was arraigned today on a felony charge.

PAPER DRIVE IS ON; HELP THE YOUNGSTERS

The drive is on for old papers and magazines, and as usual there is a great deal of rivalry between the classes to see which can bring in the greatest number of pounds.

If you have old papers and magazines to donate, Sunset school will appreciate your bringing them in, or if you can not do that, please telephone the school and they will be called for. You are asked to tie them in bundles weighing not more than 50 pounds each.

MISS NINA TURANO AND

MR. DEAN SMITH WED

Miss Nina Turano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Turano, of Turano's Market on Railroad avenue, and Dean Smith, of Oak Grove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, slipped away Saturday evening to the First Christian church in Pacific Grove and were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Lee Sadler.

A number of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony which united the happy couple.

The bride was lovely in a blue traveling suit, with accessories to match.

The groom is in the employ of Murphy Lumber Co. but they will reside in one of the Turano residences on Railroad avenue. Best wishes accompany the newlyweds.

Miss Nina was the third of the family to wed within the past few months, her sister, Charlotte, and her brother, Joe, having recently sailed on the sea of matrimony.

Tomorrow, Friday evening, the American Legion auxiliary of the Monterey post will hold a card party at the Legion hall.

a service to a large number of newspapers, is a decisive No!

The Institute, which breaks down answers to its poll into national divisions, found that 31 persons out of each 100 favored the amendment. Fifty-three were against it. Sixteen had no opinion.

New England was strongest against the amendment—63 per cent voting No and only 25 per cent Yes. Mountain states were weakest—41 per cent saying No, 35 per cent Yes, and 24 per cent holding no opinion.

CARMEL'S MOVIE ACTORS

AGAIN TO STALK

ACROSS SILVER SCREEN

By Leland Barry

"Camera-action! All extras standby for direction!"

To all the local personages who remember those words [or similar ones] on a cold, wintry day on Pt. Lobos almost seven years ago, will the varied bill at the Filmarte Theatre tonight and tomorrow be of interest.

It was in January of 1929 that Carmel, and Pt. Lobos, were turned almost overnight into a veritable Hollywood. At that time, long location journeys away from the studio weren't considered such an item of expense as they are now. For, the movies hadn't yet learned to talk. They were just beginning to whimper and gurgle a bit, and a few talkers like the one with Al Jolson began to appear, but the movie still hadn't learned how to be really intelligent with words.

The story "Evangeline" required a great deal of extras, or super-luminaries, and so Director Carrewe, with his assistant-brother, Wally Fox, scouted around Carmel for a day or so and evidently routed out about half of the gross population, by the looks of the scenes previewed for the press at the Filmarte yesterday. Soldiers, laymen, women, and children, all adorned with early New England costumes, danced and sang to music that was suggested, but not heard for it was a silent picture made by either Carrewe or Miss Del Rio.

Through the courtesy of the Point Lobos State Park, who own the print of "Evangeline," Manager Richard Bare is presenting a few, unedited scenes of this great Carmel-made film to his audience tonight and tomorrow as an added attraction to the current feature "Hooray for Love."

Many local people are recognizable in the film, and it is hoped by the management of the Filmarte that all those who worked in it will be on hand to see themselves and their friends.

It also bears special mentioning that the film which is to be shown are the scenes that were NOT included in the finished production of "Evangeline," but that it will be the scenes that the Carmel people went to see and did not.

Mrs. F. A. Ingalls went to Oakland last week to attend the two-day session of lectures, business meetings and social gatherings. Mrs. Ingalls is an officer of the Mills college associate council.

Mrs. Dudson Eardley, Seattle, formerly of Pacific Grove, is visiting friends and relatives in the Grove. She also visited Salinas friends in company with her friend of school days, Mrs. Job Wood.

The Japanese Church of Christ, located at the foot of Pearl street, Monterey, is planning one of their big dinners to be given tomorrow, Friday, evening. The proceeds will go toward the church building fund. Heretofore the church has given fish dinners for which they became quite famous, but this time they have changed to chicken which they promise will be just as delicious.

City Council Approves New Firehouse Plans

City council met Wednesday evening in the old council chambers protected by the new fire escape. A drill was suggested by some of the attendants, but everybody turned down the privilege of going down first.

A vacation was granted to Nightwatchman Nixon, following which the copy of a letter written to Mrs. Sheets by Argyll Campbell for the council was read. The letter stated that it was the council's opinion that Judge Wood's trial of her case was fair and unbiased. It pointed out that whereas she might have received a fine of $50, she was assessed only $15.

Mayor Catlin moved that the council express confidence in the police force and the way they conducted themselves during the recent much-talked-of case.

A letter from Mrs. Sheets was read in which she accused Judge Wood of discourteous treatment, and this was followed by a verbal attack by her. Mrs. Ross Miller made a short speech in which she stated she was present at Mrs. Sheets' arraignment and that Judge Wood conducted himself and the case in a courteous manner.

The question of delinquent sewer taxes on property outside the city limits was discussed and Atty. Campbell reported that in the case of Jack Wall, for whom a house had been built by Murphy Lumber Co., it was claimed that $100 had been paid. The council ordered Atty. Campbell to begin action against the necessary parties.

The Peninsula Community Hospital will pay their delinquent taxes as soon as the matter can be taken before the board, it was reported.

Action against the Forest Hill Lodge, formerly the Carmel hospital, was deferred until the present owners have time to take up the matter with the former owner, who is out of town.

Councilman Catlin reported that a survey should be made of the dead trees within the city limits, on private property, which should be cut. He also said that John Belo had told him that he would be glad to cut any trees for the wood. The city, however, will not be responsible, as Mr. Belo will make his contracts directly with the property owners.

Councilman Catlin also reported on the findings of the committee who were to take under consideration the grading of Junipero street. The estimated cost will be $10,934 and it may be taken under the WPA.

Milton Latham explained the plans for the fire house and displayed beautiful pictures showing the finished building. This is estimated to cost about $16,000. The council may ask for a bond issue of $12,000, which with funds from WPA would take care of the lot, building, new siren, insurance and other incidentals. The siren in use at present, it was pointed out, is obsolete and sometimes fails to work. Councilman Catlin objected to asking for more than $10,000 from the public.

The council approved and adopted the plans for the fire house and appointed Councilman Rowntree to go to Palo Alto Saturday to meet the heads of the WPA so that the grant might be rushed through. Judge Wood was asked to take care of the correspondence in regard to the firehouse.

Bible selections will include the following passages from II Corinthians 5: 1, 6, 8: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the hands. Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord: . . . We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "Sorrow is turned into joy when the body is controlled by spiritual Life, Truth, and Love. Hence the hope of the promise Jesus bestows: 'He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; . . . because I go unto my Father.'—(because the Ego is absent from the body, and present with Truth and Love)" (p. 14).

DOWN

AGAIN—Electric RATES DROP

Down they go! Beginning with your January bills electric rates will be reduced for home use, for commercial lighting and large industrial power, according to the amount of electricity used.

Down goes the cost of electric cooking and water heating, lighting, for washing machines and ironers, and for all the smaller uses, from the electric clocks to the doorbell transformers, to the percolator and toaster that get the daily breakfast. Electricity becomes cheaper, too, to every merchant, large or small, and in all office buildings for commercial lighting of windows, stores, counters, signs, etc.

It is important news and good news that this reduction will save Pacific Gas and Electric Company customers nearly $4,000,000 a year. It is unusual news in these days when general living costs are pushing higher and higher. Think of it! As shown in the chart above, the Cost of Living is UP 33.3% above the pre-war level. The cost of electricity with the new low rates is 35.4% below that level—and that means 68.7% below today's cost of living.

Establishing a record unmatched by any other item in the cost of living, the cost of electricity has steadily gone down since 1928. Successive rate reductions since that year show an accumulated total of $54,621,000—equivalent to an annual saving to customers of over $6,800,000.

The Personal Touch

by HARRY EVANS

LAST week I met Melvin Purvis, the G-man who was instrumental in running down such public enemies as John Dillinger, Verne Sankey, "Baby Face" Nelson, and "Pretty Boy" Floyd. In fact, I had the great privilege of having Melvin and his pretty sister, Mary Beth, as my guests at dinner. And as if that weren't enough excitement in one evening for this reporter, I had a chance to do something I've always wanted to do. That is, introduce movie stars to someone they're more eager to meet than the person is to meet them.

We went to dinner at "21." This was the most famous speak-easy in New York during prohibition days, and today it's a restaurant where you'll usually find an interesting and colorful crowd. When we arrived, we saw Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone, columnist Heywood Brown, drama critic George Jean Nathan, and actress Margaret Graham (remember her in "The Informant")? Mary Beth Purvis, who'd never met a movie star, was pretty excited about seeing the famous folk, and who should walk up right in the middle of the excitement but Richard Barthelmess, whom I've known since he made his first picture. He'd no more than left our table when into the room walked another movie actor, and if I'd tried, I couldn't have wished for a man who would fit more perfectly into the picture. It was Chester Morris. If you saw that fine film, "Public Hero Number 1," you know what I mean. In that film Chester played Melvin Purvis—that is to say, the character Chester played was written around the character of Melvin. So, without saying a word to Melvin, I went over and spoke to Chester Morris, whom I've known a number of years.

"Here's a man over here you've wanted to meet for a long time," I said.

Movie G-Man Meets Real G-Man
When we arrived at our table, I said, "Excuse me, Mary Beth, but I've got to introduce a couple of G-men, and I suppose they've already recognized each other."

And believe me they had. Chester exclaimed, "Good heavens, you're Melvin Purvis! Know you from your pictures. And I can't tell you how much I admire you and how much I've wanted to meet you."

Melvin is modest to the point of being bashful, and he was really embarrassed. But he managed to tell Chester that he'd seen "Public Hero" and wanted to compliment him on his excellent performance.

As for Mary Beth, her remark when Chester was presented to her was a classic. She said, "You know, you and Mr. Barthelmess are the ones I ever met, actor or actress."

As for the "ones" she meant, Melvin told Chester that he and Dick would have to argue it out as to which was which.

I wish I had space to tell you more about that evening with Melvin and Mary Beth and Chester, and about Melvin personally, but it's too long to tell here. If you're interested, though, I suggest you read the story about them in the current issue of my magazine, The Family Circle.

The Jungle's Greatest Danger
Also in that issue is a story about Dr. Herbert Dickey, the famous explorer, who has spent 35 years in the South American jungle and who once spent five weeks with a tribe of head-hunters there. (On another occasion, he was almost tortured to death by head-hunters of another tribe. They tied him to a tree, cut a gash in the trunk above his head so the sap would run down over his face and body, attracting ants which would eat him alive.)

Ugh! Stories about the jungle always fascinate me, and Dr. Dickey's is a peach. Incidentally, he explodes one common notion about the dangers of the jungle. Most people, when they think of the jungle, think of monkeys and crocodiles, of head-hunters and snakes, of danger lurking at every turn. Jungle creatures are diffident. It's only by accident that you see a jaguar or a snake. And I know of no jungle creature that can truly be called dangerous except the crocodile. Unless, of course, you're indiscreet enough to go into the jungle at night. In the daytime you're safe enough. The great danger of the jungle is disease. So take along quinine, lots of quinine.

DR. HERBERT DICKEY
The head-hunters tortured him.

MELVIN PURVIS. He met his movie G-man in the picture.

Sunset School

Carmel Sun welcomes this week a report from Sunset school by Hugh Dormody of the sixth grade and Harriet Hatton of the seventh. The news is well written and is presented with pride by the Sun with no editing.

Sunset vs. Monterey Let's look in at what some of the players say:

Maya Miyamoto says: "Our regular center or Jump John Tait was absent. He is the best jump man on our team or on the light-weight. We had to play without him but we got along nicely. The score was 18-17 in our favor. Monterey, you played a nice game and we hope to meet again. You had us guessing from the first to the last quartet until we scored."

Alex Mayes says: "They played a hard game as Maya said, but we sank the last basket and beat them."

All the boys played a splendid game. The line-up consisted of Maya Miyamoto, Alex Mayes, Bobby Froli, Orville Jones, Danny Villapande and George De Amaral.

Two members of the Sunset School faculty will have charge of groups at the Institute this coming week: Miss Elinor Shane Smith will lead the Nature Science course; Miss Anna Marie Baer, the Eighth Grade and Art Teacher, is to instruct the group in Social Studies on the Junior High School Level.

HYDRANT PARKER MUST BE CERTAIN HE KNOWS HOW

You are within the law if you park next to a hydrant—but be sure you know how it's done, warns Chief E. Raymond Cato of California Highway Patrol.

And here's the chief's advice: A licensed and competent driver must be in the front seat of the parked vehicle.

The person seated in the vehicle must be prepared to move the parked car immediately in case of necessity.
